

CHUBA CHANG LAUDS MANAGEMENT INSTITUTE

DIMAPUR, FEB 17 (NPN): “Trade Wings” the renowned management Institute, having 70 branches countrywide and offering various courses in Travel and Tourism. Hotel and cargo and Courier management was formally inaugurated by minister for education Chuba Chang at an impressive function held at the office premises here in Church road Sunday.

Overwhelmed by the infrastructure of the Centre Chuba Chang suggested that students should be given maximum exposure for an all round development.

Utmost exposure must be deliberated upon so that the, students can reach the fullest of their potentials besides their inner qualities and strengths the minister asserted and urged the center faculty to contribute their professional expertise towards the development of the youth.

“With the setting up of this center I am sure that the younger generation would have more avenues and opportunities for employment and entrepreneurship after successful completion of their respective courses,” the minister said adding that government jobs should be the only source for survival.

My visit to villages has opened many a “Pandora’s Box” the minister disclosed while referring to some educated unemployed graduates who preferred to stay at home instead of taking up employment in private firms.

The state itself is rich in natural resources, scenic beauty and ethnic traditions the minister proclaimed while urging upon the youth to exploit it to the maximum for the development of the state and benefit of the coming generations.

Delivering a brief account of the Institute branch manager for Eastern India Miss Mangala Tamang said that 15,000 students who had completed their courses were employed in various areas of the Industry not only in India but countries in the Middle East, Europe, America and Far East.

Each course is designed to suit the time and budget of every student Mangala said while referring upon today’s increasingly competitive and advanced environment which according to her requires innovative ability and extra customer delivered values.

She also revealed that Trade Wings Institute of Management (TIM) courses are designed keeping in mind the industry needs and International standards for individuals who wish to make a career in travel/tourism and hospitality Industry.

Students seeking admission in our courses have definitely taken a first significant step forward towards building a good career, she added.

Earlier the chief guest and branch manager were traditional Ao Naga Shawls.

Among those present at today's programme included eminent business personalities of Dimapur and well-wishers.

The welcome speech was delivered by the Centre proprietor Manoj Damodarka while the center director Tiala expressed the vote of thanks.

A light refreshment was also served to the large gathering.

Staff Reporter

NPN, dt. 17th Feb. 2002